- Coach and Mentor
- Dental Surgeon. Associate and Former Dental Practice Owner

I support people towards becoming their authentic selves and developing their career and life to achieve what they want it to be. I work with people to bring out the best in themselves, deal with work life balance issues and removing the blocks that stop them reaching their potential. I help with finding and changing what causes impostor syndrome and blocks development. Few people find a job they love and stay in for life. I work with people to change focus, evolve or have a portfolio career, or to look more widely at what they want to achieve - and do it.
